THE CUSTOM-HOUSE SAVED. The following important dispatch has been received at the Chamber of Commerce, and we take especial pleasure in making it public:

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 17, 1875.

The appropriation for the Custom-house is saved, but work can not commence without additional legislation, which can be had next winter.

H. C. Young,
R. F. Patterson,
Committee Chamber of Commerce.

These gentlemen, Hon. H. Casey Young and General R. F. Patterson, as announced in the Langua of the 13th, left here that morning for Washington at the earnest request of members of the Champriation for the Memphis custom-house already made could possibly be saved. the treasury unless work has already been begun. The work would have been commenced long ago but for the quibbling of that mythical concern known as the Memphis Freighting Company. The Secretary of the Treasury has doubtless given the act of Congress a liberal construction, perhaps construing the filing thing worse. A thousand people folof plans as a beginning of work. It is lowed him to the depot as an escort, and likely that Congress will yet have to condemn the property to make the deed above the shadow of a doubt. We con gratulate Messrs. Young and Patterson upon the successful issue of their efforts and hope that within a few months the work on a new custom-house may begin in earnest.

AMES CONDEMNED BY HIS FRIENDS sippi catches it on all sides. A Republican paper in that State says:

But while this is true, we fear the Governor of the State knows about as little of the temper and wants of his constituents as a mule does of mathematics.

The Globe-Democrat is as outspoken as the LEDGER against the whole carpetbag crew. It says:

The reply of the President and the Attorney General to the request of Governor Ames for troops in Mississippi is eminently sensible and sound, and will be cordially applauded throughout the country. The tanguage of the President to the Attorney General is plain and terse. His allusion to the "annual au-tumnal outbreaks" in the South will be recognized as a nice little bit of sarcasm, uttered under full provocation. Where the President leaves off and the Attorney General takes up the matter for himself, the subject is treated with candor and judgment. The views expressed are precisely those put forth in the Globe-Democrat a few days agoa political contest, and that when the a single State Senator out of government does interfere, Mr. Ames This year they will have fifteen. must step down and out.

And such is the tone of condemnation toward Ames and his crowd that comes from all respectable Republican journals.

The defendants are charged in the warrants with keeping a bawdy house on Washington street on the Stb day of August last; that they still continue to keep said house, and will continue to do so unless restrained by bonds for good behav-ior. The question submitted to the Court agreement of counsel is: Has the Court power under the law to require such a bond, if it shall appear to the Court, upon an examination of the facts, that the Court has the power under the statute of 34, Edward III, passed in A. D. 1361. It provides that magistrates are authorized to require surety for good bawdy women, etc. Only one case has been cited by counsel where this power has been exercised by a magistrate, viz: Commonwealth vs. Wm.
